

fingernails against
the mountainside

every tendon
tensing

every vessel
flowing

my own pulse
fills my ears

below yawns
a looking abyss

above stretches
sky vibrant blue
and white

inside these aching lungs
burns a thousand
lights

arm over arm
one step
at a time

tiny pieces falling
into place