

Hurricane

a hurricane of roses,

transposed

how many lies must be sold

before the sun comes to turn the sea pink

golden and ferocious

the refrain of this song

an atrocious hope

that wells up in shouts

suppressed for fear

of waking

from this autumnal slumber

if numbers

have substance

who will count

the larks at dawn?